Kyo

Kuroko

Hinagata

Just as life seemed like it was going to return to "normal," Kyo literally stumbled across Kuroko there on her way to practice. More, it turns out, is one of the best players on the Seirin High basketball team, but he hadn't shown up for practice or any games since before Kyo became a member. However, since there met Kyo, he started showing up for practice again, though none of the other boys seemed happy about it.

Though More's skills on the court are impressive, he was a very poor team player whose steadfast refusal to rely on others alienated his teammates. Unfortunately, More's "loner" behavior also extends to his personal life, and it's no longer just due to his photographic memory. More's perfect, selfless memory makes school a breeze, and life a pain. He remembers every detail about every bad thing that's ever been said or done to him, and it's left the gifted young man bitter, angry, withdrawn, and fatalistic.

Recently, Kyo's attempts to help More led the disturbed young man to hideout her and take her to an abandoned building which was rigged to explode and burn with both of them inside it. In order to regain More's trust, Kyo told him that she's really a girl. As the building began to catch fire, Chikara forced his way through the flames to rescue Kyo. Unwilling to give up on More, Kyo enlisted Chikara's aid to rescue More as well, despite More's desire to die. Confused and touched by their selflessness, More seemed to finally form a bond of trust with his two teammates as they helped him limp away from the burning wreckage.

The Story So Far

Some people will do anything to realize their dream, even if it means disgracing a girl who began the team play on a team of boys' basketball team. If you don't believe it, just imagine how Kyo Akiba feels—her dad's the one who's dead up this crazy science!

Kyo's father was once a great basketball player who aspired to play for the NBA. Unfortunately, an injury ended his career before it even started. Despite his disappointment, he passed his love of the game—and his want—to his daughter.

Kyo wanted to date a boy, not become one, and she was not happy about her father's lonely plan, until she met Chikara Enoki, the boy who was to be her teammate on the court...and her roommate in the dorm!

As luck would have it, Kyo and Chikara got on each other's nerves right from the start, but Kyo's attempts to get past Chikara's gruff, selfish exterior eventually made the two of them friends in time. Chikara's thoughtful kindness also won't Kyo off her feet, and she wondered if she might have some wrong feelings for him.

Kyo and Chikara's personal connection was not painfully short when an old friend of Kyo's named Tsuyaka Hinagata arrived on the scene. Tsuyaka knew Kyo from her previous school and transferred to Seirin so they could play on the same team again. When Tsuyaka learned Kyo was misgendered as a boy, she was willing to protect Kyo's secret, until Kyo proved she was willing to leave the boys' team. Attempting to force the issue, Tsuyaka tore a page Kyo's secret in front of Chikara, revealing Kyo's secret! Though Chikara didn't tell Kyo's secret, he did have it tough time adjusting to the idea of a female teammate.

Our story so far...

KURO ARISAWA transferred to Edge High and started like a guy in exile to you. He was a beautiful, tall, thin and really hot fellow's dream.

His transducer and transducer, CHIKURAKU, discovered his secret but kept it to himself. The two became very close friends.

KURO befriended MURAKI, a super good-looking scholarship student with a pretty IQ and an attitude problem. MURAKI's response to KURO's friendship, however, was not as a successful plot to ruin the two women, signed their being placed in custody.

The two transducers went to fight for them, but when they found them, the building was already on fire. CHIKURAKU learned the lesson to rescue them, and the three escaped by jumping from the roof. MURAKI was forced to leave by their efforts.

The perfect combination for love: magical mushrooms and steaming hot springs! During the trip to the hot springs, Chiharu discovers Kyo's interest in Kyo. To make matters worse (and a whole lot weirder), Kyo and Chiharu mistakenly eat some wacky mushrooms, which make them behave in rather uncharacteristic ways—like confessing their love for each other!
